

Southampton Cultural Services Volunteer Role Profile

SeaCity Object Handling Volunteer

Role To conduct object handling sessions, and to facilitate visitors in engaging with the objects through interaction and sharing knowledge.

Impact Volunteers carrying out this role will be enabling visitors to interact with objects that would normally be behind glass. The objects form a social history collection which spans a timeframe of approximately 4000 years. By handling these objects, visitors can deepen their understanding of the past and improve their ability to connect with the past citizens of Southampton through a shared experience. Object interaction is proven to provide a more memorable experience for visitors.

Responsible To Customer Service Assistants, Duty Managers, Volunteer Coordinator

Location First floor of SeaCity Museum

Hours To be agreed in advance with the Volunteer Coordinator. Available shifts will be weekends 11.30 to 13.30 or 1.30 to 15.30 and select weekdays during school holidays.

Support Volunteers will be trained to run this role independently, with a potential for three volunteers at a time. There will always be a member of staff around if needed for support, as well as relevant Health and Safety training. Volunteers will be provided with an identifying name badge.

Health and Safety and Accessibility SeaCity Museum is fully accessible during opening hours and there is a large lift to the first-floor exhibition spaces. This role does involve a level of manual handling, including moving a heavy box containing the objects, as well as table and chairs. Handling of the objects themselves must be carried out with care. Please discuss with us in advance if you have any concerns.

Specific Tasks Volunteers will conduct Object Handling sessions on the first floor at SeaCity Museum. The collection contains upwards of 15 objects relating to the social history of Southampton and spans a timeframe of c.4000 years. Volunteers will actively engage visitors, encouraging them to interact with the objects and sharing knowledge of them. Volunteers will take ownership of this role during their shifts and will ensure that the collection is cared for and ready for the next session. Full training will be provided.
